

BRYANT RICHARDSON

STATE SENATOR

A message of support for Colonel John Shulli for the United States Senate

For over a decade serving the people of Delaware in the General Assembly, my highest priority has been defending the most vulnerable among us, beginning with the sanctity of unborn human life.

Delaware needs a leader in Washington who possesses both an unyielding moral compass and the strategic depth to defend our foundational values. That is why I endorse Colonel John Shulli to represent Delaware in the United States Senate.

Most important to me, and to thousands of pro-life Delawareans, Shulli understands that the right to life is the foundational right upon which all other liberties are built. He recognizes that a society is ultimately judged by how it protects the innocent.

Shulli will be an uncompromising defender of the unborn, fighting to cultivate a culture that values every human life.

As an Army Reserve Colonel with 30 years of service, including leadership during the Iraq War, Shulli has demonstrated his commitment to defending our constitutional republic.

Shulli also brings high-level understanding and experience from the Pentagon as an AI data policy analyst, giving him the knowledge to lead our nation through the emerging AI and technological landscape.

Shulli stands firm for national sovereignty, border security, and strict election integrity, including passage of the SAVE America Act.

Another important issue to me, and one Shulli supports, is the American Homeownership Sovereignty Act, which would eliminate property taxes on primary residences for seniors over 65, ensuring retirees are never taxed out of the homes they spent a lifetime paying off.

I urge all Delawareans who value life, liberty, and true independence to join me in supporting John Shulli for the United States Senate. I will be giving him my vote in the September primary and urge others to do the same.

Sincerely,

Bryant Richardson
